

Oakland Art Enthusiast

Following the Oakland Art Scene

Something Completely Different

City Limits Gallery, Oakland

Through September 13, 2014

Sixty artists have been invited to contribute to Something Completely Different, a sprawling salon-style group show unlike any of the previous exhibitions at City Limits. The participating artists, at various stages of their respective careers, have been asked to contribute one new work which differs from anything they have made before. Although the format of the exhibition has changed, the simple invitation to “make something different” aligns with the goal for every exhibition at City Limits: to show new works by artists which deviate from their usual art practice or discipline.

The opening reception for this show will function as a fundraiser for City Limits, an artist-run space which is currently funded and operated independently of grants or outside financial support. At the reception, limited edition City Limits merchandise will be available, as well as refreshments courtesy of Pacific Coast Brewery in Old Oakland.

Participating artists include Aidan Koch, Alyssa Block, Andrea Bergart, Arianne Bird, Austin English, Benjamin Ashlock, Brian Putnam, Carissa Potter Carlson, Carrie Katz, Cate Nelson, Chandra Baerg, Chelsea Wong, Conrad Guevara, Courtney Johnson, Daniel Jefferies, Daniel Yovino, David Bayus, Facundo Argañaraz, Franco Maldonado, Grace Rosario Perkins, Jackie Im & Aaron Harbour, James Cordas, James Sterling Pitt, Jane Kim, Jennie Lennick, Jon Gourley, Justin Margitich, Kiara Cho, Kindah Khalidy, Lana Williams, Leora Lutz, Lindsay Tully, Li Ma, Lisa Cralle, Luca Nino Antonucci, Maciej Makalowski, Mario Ayala, Mark Benson, Matt Kotzin, Michelle Ramin, Mie Hørlyck Mogensen, Mitsu Okubo, Nicole Lavelle, Omer Gal, Pete Hickok, Quintessa Matranga, Rafael de la Cruz, Rebekah Goldstein, Sam Mell, Sam Spano, Sarah Hotchkiss, Sarah Thibault, Scott Longo, Sheryl Oppenheim, Stephanie Rohlf, Susannah Dotson, Takeshi Moro, Tamra Seal, 1038 Projects, and Yina Kim